GRAVE FOR HER IN WILDS

MRS. CLAUDE SIMPSON
Mrs. Simpson, the former Eleanor Quincy, Boston society girl, is dead at Salda, Col., and her guide husband will bury her, as she wished, under the pines near their mountain cabin in the wilds. A direct descendant of President John Quincy Adams, Prides Crossing, Newport, New York and Boston knew her as Elton Quincy of No. 42 Beacon street. She spurned rich suitors to wed a man of the mountains.

LUTTS DIVORCE SUITS DISMISSED
Declaring a young man had been outraged by naming him in connection with the case on "such slim" evidence, Judge John Leggat in Middlesex Probate Court dismissed both suits in the divorce actions of Mrs. Harriett Lutts of Malden, and her husband, Roy Lutts, George S. Howe, 19, had been named by Lutts as co-respondent.

HERO FLIER AGREES TO VISIT BOSTON AFTER ST. LOUIS RECEPTION
New York, June 15.—After Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh returned to the Frantz apartment today, he met Major James Winston, representing Governor Fuller of Massachusetts, and agreed, according to the major, to visit Boston after his reception in St. Louis, which ends Sunday.
New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, after a crowded evening's reception, again today to appear at the house of a friend in the city.
The New York State Chamber of Commerce, who have offered a large increase in the country's air force.
He said he did not believe that the airplane would ever take the place of the army or the navy, but that it must be developed and protected by airplane.
The Lindberghs will be in the city tonight, and will leave for St. Louis tomorrow. He said that he was not going to visit Boston after his reception in St. Louis, which ends Sunday.

Fight 'L' Grab at Pennies of School Children!

THE Boston Elevated Railway appealed to the State Public Utilities Board today in an effort to have that body abolish the half fare for school children, and to put the youngsters on an increased—perhaps the full ten-cent rate.
The half fare applies to all "kiddies" only during the hours that they are going to school from school, and to compel them to pay an increased rate would mean that they would constitute a grab of more than a half million dollars a year out of their pocket books.
The day and age, however, helping railroad managers, should facilitate rather than retard education. Many a youngster will miss many days schooling in the course of a year if this grab goes through. And many a poor widow in Boston scrambling for a living, will find it hard to send her little ones to school, particularly in bad weather.
Education is the greatest armor that any child can have in fitting him for the battle of life, and this grab may cause the taxpayers dollars in the future to make good this folly.
Parents, teachers, clergymen and every fellow who wants to see the youngster get a chance, will fight this grab.

COMMUTERS IN PERIL AT NO. STATION WHEN BOLT RIPS FLAGPOLE

A blinding lightning bolt, darting down in the midst of the rain, shattered the North Station flagpole today and threatened many commuters with injury in the toppling of the big pole.
When the bolt split the big steeple from butt to tip, it crashed the pole down into Cambridge street.
The pole, which was 100 feet high, was struck by the lightning bolt at the top, and the shock of the fall was so great that it caused the pole to snap in two. COL. MITCHELL ACCUSES NAVY OF FLAGRANT NEGLIGENCE OF LINDBERGH'S PLANE dal flying activities can be made into military pilots in a very short time and a well developed air service in America would be invaluable in case of war. The air corps will never take the place of the navy or the army, but both must have an air corps.

Mitchell Blames Navy for Crippling of Lindbergh's Plane

Washington, June 15 (A.P.)—While Colonel Charles Lindbergh's dampest transatlantic plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," rested in a hangar at the naval air station today, awaiting its pilot, an aviator's controversy broke out here over who was to blame for the defective motor that prevented Lindbergh from flying the ship to New York.

Colonel William Mitchell, former stormy petrel of the army air service and admittedly one of the foremost fliers of the country, today charged that the faulty condition of the engine was due to "naval inefficiency."

Edward P. Warner, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, in charge of aviation, denied that any blame could be attached to the Navy and asserted that the plane was reassembled at the Anconia Field by engineers for the Wright company.

Colonel Mitchell made his charges in a letter to the Washington Post, which had printed a communication from Secretary Warner, praising the navy personnel that handled Lindbergh's ship.

"In command of naval air matters

Byrd Promises to Bring Lindbergh to Boston

Both Lindbergh and Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd, the former a successful, and the latter a prospective, transatlantic flier, will be guests of Boston if Mayor Nichols has his way and things come out as they lined up today.

Byrd, in response to a telephone call by the Mayor, telegraphed today that, while Lindbergh cannot come to Boston immediately, the North Pole flier will bring him to the Hub when the byrd transatlantic flight is completed and Byrd returns to America.

are incompetent directing heads placed there by the battleship men to keep a strangle hold on air power," said Colonel Mitchell.

"This means incompetence all the way down. Today the navy relies principally on hot air propaganda manufactured and spread by their Washington lobby."

"Since the naval vessels were sunk by airplanes in 1921 and it was proved to the world that battleships were useless the navy propagandists still hedged behind the cry that airplanes could not fly across the seas. They were successful in preventing service pilots from doing it.

"But the civilian, Lindbergh, using his head, his practical knowledge of flying and his indomitable courage, flew across the sea."

"The Navy bureaucrats were quick to see the effect of Lindbergh's flight. One may imagine them running to the President and crying upon the industries that sell them equipment to assist, so as to turn Lindbergh's flight to their own advantage from a propaganda standpoint."

"They carried their point, and sent the cruise Memphis to take charge of Lindbergh. They had done nothing to help him before the flight, but now they made a great war over him because they had to bend to the current of popular opinion."

ACCUSES NAVY

"They took his airplane which had been carefully crated by the English, put it aboard the Memphis, and, as Col. Lindbergh says, the salt moisture was allowed to enter it. Of course it caused corrosion wherever it struck."

"There was no excuse for not keeping this plane safe and dry on its trip across."

"The plane was taken off at Anconia by the navy and assembled under the navy's direction."

"The navy had plenty of time to test it in every way, but when Lindbergh

ZEP EXPERT AND OCEAN FLIERS DISCUSS AIR LINE

By H. E. KNICKERBOCKER, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, June 15.—Ten thousand people gathered here today and cheered themselves hoarse while Clarence Chamberlin, Charles A. Levine and Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin expert, met in conference to discuss plans for a transatlantic air service which would make use of both airplanes and Zeppelins.

Both Chamberlin and Levine spent considerable time in the Zeppelin construction sheds, inspecting the work on what may be the first true transatlantic air liner. This dirigible is being built for an airmail service between Spain and South America and is expected to go into commission next Spring.

Dr. Eckener, told Chamberlin and Levine that when this dirigible is completed he intends to use it to make a flight across the North Pole, "just simply as a trial flight."

"Then I intend to make several flights back and forth across the Atlantic to prove it can be done safely, before the liner goes into commission," Dr. Eckener said.

Dr. Eckener also showed the two Americans through the Dornier airplane factory, but he failed to show them one as long wreath it is understood. Dornier constructors are secretly at work on a huge airplane capable of carrying one hundred passengers.

Georgia, replied to Mrs. Bowers' assertion with a statement in which he said: "If any member of the Ku Klux Klan took part in the 'Toccoa' flogging, the Klan will do its utmost to send him to the State penitentiary."

Mrs. Bowers' husband, from whom she has been separated two years, is a railroad man, and two of the men arrested on charges of having participated in the flogging are railroad employees.

Elmer Clark and Charles Thomas surrendered to Sheriff E. A. Stone of Stephen's County, after completing a run from Greenville, S. C. Both denied the charge.

The two others arrested were W. J. Acree, principal of a high school near Toccoa, and T. R. Lowery, sub-foreman of a furniture factory.

BYRD MAY FLY AROUND WORLD

New York, June 15 (A.P.)—The New York Evening Post says today that Commander Richard E. Byrd, who is expected to hop off on a short notice for a transatlantic flight, has much elastic plans for gaining his Parker monoplane after it leaves American shores that he may even cross Europe and the Pacific Ocean before he ends his trip.

Byrd, the paper says it is informed by him, "will not consider his task ended when he lands at Le Bourget. He may hop across to South America and thence back to the United States, or make a series of flights across Europe and Asia to Tokyo, firing the Pacific with a pause at Honolulu."

Today Byrd's plane was prepared for a leap at any moment. Indications were that no start would be made, however, until the last of Lindbergh's ship.

UNION FIGHT ON OVER BUNKER HILL DINNER

They re-fighting another battle of Bunker Hill.
This time it is the white coats of non-union waiters instead of the famous red coats of the Irons of the George that are targets of the defense, which is none other than the Central Labor Union, who are protesting the employment of the non-union waiters to serve the city's free turkey dinner in the Charles-town Armory tomorrow night in honor of Bunker Hill Day.
Plans for the serving of the dinner were rolling along smoothly until it was discovered that the Malden caterer in charge was said to employ non-union help. A protest was made by officials of the Waiters' Union with George H. Johnson, director of public celebrations and head of the banquet committee. With the Governor, Mayor and other public officials due to attend in the capacity of diners and speakers, the situation looked bad.
Down in Waiters' Union headquarters some recalled the famous warning, "Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes," which was conveniently changed to fit the occasion. "Fire all those non-union white coat guys."
So far as known the Bunker Hill free turkey dinner will be served as per schedule, but the union men may go so far as to picket the affair and send the opposite of some of the guests at least.

GREAT SKY FLEET IN 2 WEEKS

Two weeks from today at least 30 commercial airplanes will visit Boston in connection with the national air tour.

From the commercial viewpoint it will be the greatest airplane spectacle ever seen at the Boston airport.

It will be the third flying day of this national airplane event. Present indications are that among the planes there will be a Ryan mono-plane similar to the "Spirit of St. Louis."

A committee of arrangements has been at work for two weeks and it has obtained the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce committee on aviation, the Aero Club of New England, the Municipal Air Board, the Air Officers Reserve Association and the committee on aviation of the American Legion.

The Chamber has named the vice-president of Bernard Wiseman, secretary of the committee on aviation, who will be in charge of all details.

PURPOSE OF AIR TOUR

Several contributions to cover the costs of the visit have already been received, the latest one coming from Porter Adams, president of the National Aeronautic Association.
The committee on arrangements announces that an honorary committee has been formed consisting of the following: W. Irving Bullard, chairman; Governor Alvan T. Fuller, Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols, Porter Adams, W. F. Augustine, George Brewster Baber, James D. Brennan, Collier L. Callet, Arthur Combs, Howard Conner, Victor M. Carter, Major-General Clarence G. Edwards, Alvin Porter, Charles J. Glidden, N. Penrose Hallowell, Henry L. Harriman, Charles E. Jeffrey, Jr., George R. Liggett, Edmund W. Loughey, John J. Martin, William McDermott, Frank W. Merrick, Andrew J. Peters, W. S. Crosby, Felix V. Weatling, Lee.

SEEK FLIERS IN QUEBEC WILDS

Quebec, June 15 (A.P.)—Despite the possibility that distress signals seen Sunday night in the timbered region of St. Germain township, might have been the lights of a survivors party rather than signals from the missing French aviators, Captain Charles Nungesser and Francis Colli, preliminary arrangements were made today to send an expedition to the region.

The plane which will make the search is the same one which was used in an unsuccessful search for the missing aviators on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River and in Labrador several weeks ago.

Seizing parties from St. Germain have started into the region where the flares were seen in an effort to clear up the situation.

Lindy's Mother Going to St. Louis on Special Tonight

New York, June 15 (A.P.)—Mrs. Lindbergh, wife of the aviator, will leave for St. Louis tonight on a special train. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John Lindbergh, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Lindbergh.

Prior to the departure of the train, it will be christened by Mrs. Lindbergh. She will be the first woman to fly in the Spirit of St. Louis.

Mrs. Lindbergh will take part, with her mother, in the christening ceremony at the rear of the train.

Lindy Dodged Admiral to Mingle With 'Gobs'

Although conqueror of death and the overseas air lanes and with the world at his feet, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, "Lone Eagle of the Atlantic," was averted and ill at ease at the gold braided ward of officers of the U. S. cruiser Memphis, the warship's crew revealed today when it arrived in Boston for the Bunker Hill day celebration.

And Lindbergh dodged a ship of war when he finally was able to "dodge" the officers and get down to the shore to mingle with the "gobs" as the sailors called them.

The aviator's most relaxed expression on the cruiser that brought him here was when he sat down at the mess table for his first informal meal in many days.

"He set himself, spread his legs and, leaning back, ate the food and drank the beer with a knife and fork," said First Chief Steward John R. Smith, who acted as Lindbergh's waiter on the trip.

"Then, he waved the knife and fork in the air and said, 'Wow! This is the way I like to eat, with one knife and one fork. There were no many knives and forks and spoons at the banquet in France that it's a relief to get down here and know you haven't got to fool around and look out your right foot.'"

Steward Smith said that Lindbergh was "not stuffy" and "very friendly" and asserted that there were sentiments of every man aboard the Memphis.

When he first came aboard ship, he was so regular, "they thought he was up on the bridge and he seemed to be a very good pilot and after we pulled out, he said the admiral and the other officers as soon as he could."

Later on he slipped into a regular when I turned down about 400 feet and the admiral said, "I certainly look it and the more I brought down the more he grinned. It was showed that he wasn't high but averted head."

"At that first meal at the anchor, Lindbergh before the liner returns home."

They said that present plans call for Lindbergh to leave New York for Washington to appear at the plane Friday morning immediately after receiving the $25,000 prize at a presentation breakfast in New York.

In Washington he will transfer to the "Spirit" and arrive in St. Louis late Friday afternoon, according to schedule.

St. Louis Ready to Greet its Own "Ace of Hearts"

St. Louis, June 14 (A.P.)—A welcome home such as no hero ever before enjoyed is the ambition of St. Louis in preparing to receive Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on Friday.

The finishing touches were being added today to plans for the great parade at noon Saturday, the first of a series of events which will culminate in a grand dinner at Hotel Chase Saturday night and the gathering in Forest Park Sunday afternoon.

St. Louis cars, busses, ships and "Lindberghs" Lindbergh people, and the city's business and industry are all displaying their "ace of hearts."

A huge sign at Grand and Washington boulevards salutes Lindbergh as "our ace of hearts."

The vendors of Lindbergh buttons and trinkets are multiplying on the street corners. The Lindbergh crests in the department stores have increased amazingly in variety from hats to cloth designs. And a Lindbergh display is a part of nearly every shop window.

RED HEADS ASSEMBLE IN MUNICIPAL COURT

It was red head day in Judge A. J. Cohen's session of the Municipal Court today when the sons of Freda Hinkoff of Evelyn street, Des Moines, her brother Max and her sister Helen and Gertrude, and Evelyn Steinman against the Boston Elevated came up for trial. They claimed their automobile was struck by a trolley car in November, 1925, and sought damages for alleged physical injuries. The case was settled out of court shortly after trial started.

All the plaintiffs red hair. So did their attorney, Henry Lawler and the attorney for the Elevated, John L. O'Hare.

EVERETT MILLS VOTES FOR IMMEDIATE LIQUIDATION

In keeping with a previous vote for liquidation, stockholders of the Everett Mills today voted that the corporation proceed as rapidly as advisable in the selling of its assets and provide for the payment of its debts and the distribution of any balance among the stockholders. Pending final liquidation, the directors are authorized to make arrangements under which goods may be manufactured for this corporation by other corporations.

HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS POUR INTO U. S. VAULTS

Treasury vaults were opened today to receive funds pouring into the hundred millions of dollars, coming largely from income tax and war debt payments.

Mello Out to Regain Place in Fistic Sun

By Jack Conway

MR. BOSTON was jimmied full of boxing enthusiasm today. "New England is once more a hotbed for the welterweights," declared a veteran, "Remember the palmy days of Edie, Samson, Yank, King, Natto, Sugar and old De laquer. It's a pity."

Edie, Samson, Yank, King, Natto, Sugar and old De laquer. It's a pity. The welterweight division has been the scene of some of the most exciting fights in the history of the sport. The welterweight division has been the scene of some of the most exciting fights in the history of the sport.

JOHN J. INDRESSANO of East Boston is another welterweight who will be watching. Jack Williams, a welterweight, is also a contender. The welterweight division has been the scene of some of the most exciting fights in the history of the sport.

MR. BOSTON called an office boy and told him to drop over to the tailor's shop for the old suit. The office boy returned with the suit, and Mr. Boston put it on. He then went to the gymnasium and watched the boxing matches.

Hub's Race Meeting. Thrilling Sport. The "Boo" Boys. Fine Jumpers Entered. Getting to Be Habit. By Nick Flatley.

BOSTON'S ONE RACE MEET HAS REAL CLASS

BOSTON gets only one peek at the runners each year, but that one provides all the class and quality that goes with the sport of kings. There isn't a better nor smarter race meeting in this country than the show provided by the Eastern Horse Club at Clyde Park.

The Brookline track is one really beautiful spot, and the very best people, as you might say, go to that meet. The country's best jumping horses have been entered. Big tracks, like Belmont, have a tough time getting entries for the steeple chases, so tough that these most exciting of races are put on only two or three times a week.

Yet the Country Club card is filled to overflowing, even though it calls for four jumping events each day. The steeple chase packs as much excitement as any one sporting event. It's picturesque and thrilling.

There's always the chance of spills and accidents, and natural human morbidity goes strongly for that. When a dozen or more horses, running bunched, go for the same barrier something has to happen. Obstacle racing is mostly luck, for the greatest riders cannot avoid bumping and interference when fields are big.

The riders like the excitement just as much as the crowds. They tell hair-raising yarns of clearing fences when the suffling was so thick that the horses had to do all the jumping by instinct rather than anything else.

The Country Club races are conducted according to all the best traditions of the sport. Some of the boys and girls come out in the tallhats that were of old-time sporting folks what the beneliked high-powered open cars are to the moderns.

Brookline is perfect country for steeple chasing. The course is what the experts would call a "natural" if they used the language of the ordinary mortal. And even though the laws prohibit, there's always a chance for the speculatively inclined to get down modest wagers on the animals they like.

The present race meet is the most pretentious and expensive ever put on in these parts. But public interest warranted the splurge. The horse club will emerge with a nifty profit, if the weather is at all favorable. The land is sport crazy, and the horse has come back into his own in marvelous manner.

'BOOING' AT LEGION CARNIVAL UNWARRANTED

STRANGE ideas some people have of sport. We're thinking of the main run of the great legion carnival. Messrs. Freeman and Smith, who have been in the business for many years, are very much annoyed by the "booing" which has been going on at the carnival.

And the two boys fought like a couple of Indians. They hammered and pummeled each other from start to finish. Both are very good, close to the top flight. Their quarrel here showed that they're logical contenders for the welter crown, at the worst.

Yet they were hooded a bit, and handed quite an assortment of well known facts. There was no occasion for the same whatever. The boo, it would seem, has come to be a part of modern sport. You find it at football games and baseball contests. Track athletes hear it now and then. It isn't sporting, and casts a lurid shadow on the neutrality of the spectators.

Competitors have learned to pay little attention, but at the same time it's tough payment for the utmost physical effort. Freeman and Smith might have damaged each other a bit more but they been provided with axes. The boys who poured their could have a real time at the stock yards, where there's blood and death all day long.

Recipes to Use When Girls Are Camping Out

By MARTHA LEE

When girls are camping out, they often find themselves in a bit of a predicament. They want to eat something that is both delicious and easy to prepare. Here are some recipes that are perfect for camping out.

FLUFFY'S SUGGESTION—Corinne's first thought, after Clifford's dinner had left the apartment, was to go to the kitchen and make something. She decided to make a simple cake. She took out the ingredients and began to mix. As she was mixing, she thought of the girls who were camping out. She decided to make a cake that was both delicious and easy to prepare. She finished the cake and put it in the oven. When it was done, she took it out and put it on a plate. She then went to the girls and gave them the cake. They all ate it and enjoyed it very much.

FLASH'S INTERVENTION—Hurry to the telephone, Corinne, at Flash's office. The business manager of the night club, he said, "Flash's intervention" was a success. He had managed to get the girls out of the club and into a safe place. He then went back to the club and found the girls. They were all safe and sound. He then went back to the club and found the girls. They were all safe and sound.

CORINNE IS REASSURED—That night, after the show, Corinne found she had two defenders. Surrounded by the glamour of "Papa" Henderson's night club, the girl listened to the sage advice of "Flash" and the wise old Henderson. Both reassured her that everything would be all right. She then went back to the club and found the girls. They were all safe and sound. He then went back to the club and found the girls. They were all safe and sound.
